

Claudio Cervellati

Chief Supply Chain Officer

Member Nutreco Management Board

Claudio has served as Nutreco's Chief Supply Chain Officer since 2023. Over the course of his career, he has attained more than 30 years of experience in C-level executive positions and management consulting roles, with a proven track record of business transformation and operations improvement across a range of industries, including chemicals, construction materials and pulp and paper.

Prior to joining Nutreco, Claudio was Managing Director with Alvarez & Marsal's Corporate Transformation Services practice in Zürich. Before that, he served as Senior Vice President at LafargeHolcim, a global leader in sustainable construction, where he led supply chain turnaround programs across Asia, MEA, Europe and South America, achieving double-digit top-line growth and operations optimisations.

Claudio was also CEO of South Europe for the largest European paper merchant, PaperlinX – Lecta, where he turned around the performance of the five companies he was managing and contributed to their sale and integration into new entities.

He served as CEO of Calcestruzzi, the Italian concrete and aggregates entity of Italcementi, transforming the company's performance within two years.

Claudio was Global Technical Director of Bunge, a global Agrochemical corporation, where he managed a network of factories across Europe, North America, South America and Asia and led the construction of new factories throughout Europe.

Claudio began his professional career at Exxon Chemical, holding a number of sales, marketing, production and logistics roles and also spent a decade in management consulting as Partner at McKinsey and as Vice President at Kearney.

With a master's degree in chemical engineering from the Milano Polytechnic University, Claudio has worked across Europe and in the U.S. and is fluent in Italian, English and French.

"I'm excited about the contributions we can bring to our purpose of Feeding the Future and look forward to combining and optimising our expertise for the benefit of our customers and our business."

- Claudio Cervellati